SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Board and Citizens of Brentwood:

In submitting to you my fifth annual report as superintendent of the Brentwood schools I call your special attention to the five statistical tables hereto appended. They speak in the clearest terms of the enrollment, attendance, cost of teachers and the like, for the year which closed on June 30, 1924 and they furnish some information about similar statistics for the last few years. In regard to statistics for the current year I am glad to report a favorable autumn attendance. We are finishing the twenty third week of the year, considerably more than half, and the average attendance has been about 93 per cent. Unless sickness prevents we shall have a record at the end of the year better than any for the past five years. Since regular attendance is one of the necessities of a good school it is a satisfaction to find it improving. The teacher of a school is largely responsible for the attitude of her pupils toward attending school; when something worth while is at the school it is difficult to keep well children at home and when matters go loosely at school it is very difficult to compel children to attend or to get much good from a school to which they are compelled to go. To add to school efficiency, I recommend a thirty-seven week year; it may be had at the same cost for teachers as now.

Since my last report all the teachers have worked zealously, on plain and homely principles, to make for Brentwood as efficient schools as possible; there has been no case of doing less than one's best and in some cases at least, that best has been excellent. There should be no retreat from whatever we have gained in this regard, rather should there be an advance beyond the ground already held. Experience or special training or both, preferably both, should continue to be required of our teachers, for our children deserve it. We should expect I think that the cost of it will increase rather than diminish but if the return to our children, on the dollars invested in their teachers, is honest and adequate, I'm sure the necessary funds for good teachers will be found.

The surplus left on June 30, 1924 in your treasury enabled you to do some large jobs of much needed repairing but there are still some repairs to which your attention should be directed. While the teacher is the most essential factor in the school our children are associated every day too, with the physical plants of the schools and they are not only comfortable or uncomfortable in accordance with the way we heat and light the building but they are being educated in orderliness or the opposite, in accordance with the way we repair fences, paint school houses, inside and out, replace broken glass, etc. About three and a half cords of wood have been burned at Marshalls' Corner School in the modified heating apparatus there during the twenty-three weeks of this year; there are thirteen more week left. Assuming that matters continue as they are, there will be a saving of a cord of wood. That there has been a great gain in comfort, especially for the little children who are usually the ones to sit in the intense heat near an unjacketed stove, no one who has visited the school can deny. The new arrangement cost $35.00. I recommend that similar advantages be given to all the other children in town. Your success in trimming the trees at Crawley's Falls School has improved the light there; attention to a similar condition at the North Road School is strongly urged. If money can be found for further repairs I would suggest that the interior wood work at the South Road School be painted, the fence at Crawley's Falls be repaired, that the school house at Crawley's Falls and the North Road be painted on the exterior, that the windows of Crawley's Falls house be overhauled. Modern maps of Europe are much needed in all the schools.

It is with a deep appreciation of your loyal support and genuine interest in our schools that this report is

Respectfully submitted,

CLIFTON A. TOWLE,

Superintendent of Supervisory Union No. 16.

Exeter, N. H., February 9, 1925.
